WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Homicide in Seattle.

SEATTLE, Sept 23.—On Tuesday afternoon an affray growing out of a personal misunderstanding occurred in this city between J W Ervin and Alex Bailey, which resulted in the death of the former. The parties had been intimate friends and had been doing business together for several years, when a misunderstanding in regard to some business transaction arose. Ervin became much excited, armed himself with a revolver and sought Bailey, threatening to shoot him on sight. When they met Ervin was driving a span of horses attached to a lumber wagon. He stopped his team and drew a revolver but before he could use it Bailey caught a stake from the wagon and dealt him a blow on the forehead which resulted in his death about six hours afterwards. Deceased was a native of Rochester New York, and for many years was a contractor and builder in Chicago. Baily had an examination to-day and was honorably discharged.

A DESPERADO DISPOSED OF.—A dispatch from Louisville, Ky Aug 12 says: Horace Witherspoon a rich farmer in Anderson county was shot and immediately killed last night at Laurenceburg that county, by A M Portwood a young lawyer of the town. Witherspoon was in the act of drawing a pistol to shoot but Portwood was too quick for him. The shooting seems a clear case of self defense and Portwood had tried to avoid the difficulty. Witherspoon was a very desperate man and had killed two men before without provocation. Six weeks ago at the very hour and almost upon the same spot where he was killed yesterday he had shot and killed Dr Chambers an old and respected physician of the county and was under indictment for this murder at the time of his death. Two loaded revolvers were found on his person one half drawn.

TRAY AS A CATCHER.—To our surprise when walking through Lafayette Square we saw a bevy of boys playing base ball with a dog in the capacity of catcher—a middle sized yellowish dog half pointer—catching the ball in his mouth with an accuracy that was really astonishing. For half an hour during which we witnessed this novel game of base ball the dog did not miss the ball a single time. And more than this, when, at our request one of the boys threw the ball into the grass for a distance of about fifty feet his canine catcher found it in an instant, and brought it back. The dog is evidently trained for the national game and may yet make his mark as the champion catcher in this city.—New Orleans Times

The motion prevailed

Mr STOTT from the Judiciary Committee reported upon the contested election case from Clatsop county as follows

Mr Speaker: Your Committee on Judiciary to whom was referred the case of Joseph Jeffries who claims a seat in the House as Representative from Clatsop county together with the report of the special committee herein heretofore made respectfully report that we have had the same under consideration and find Clatsop having been joined with Tillamook county for Legislative purposes and already having a joint representative is not entitled to an additional separate Representative. We therefore report Mr Jeffries not entitled to a seat in this House as a Representative from said county of Clatsop

Mr STOTT moved that Mr Jeffries be allowed to address the House upon his claim

Mr JEFFRIES recited very briefly the facts in the case as he understood them and concluded by saying that while he had been sent here by the votes of Clatsop county and believed that the county was justly entitled to such representation yet he cheerfully acquiesced in any other conclusion to which the House in its wisdom might come

Mr STOTT—The Constitution provides for the manner of apportioning the counties for representative and senatorial purposes. The United States census was taken in 1870. In 1872 an apportionment was made by the Legislature of Oregon dividing the State into districts for senatorial and representative purposes. The ratio fixed upon in that case was 1 000 voters for a representative and each fraction thereof. If a county had not a sufficient number of votes to entitle her to a separate representative it was joined to some other county. In 1870 at the time the census was taken Clatsop had a population of 1,200. It seems to me the error the people of Clatsop county has fallen into is this that because they had more than half of the 1,000 they are therefore entitled to a representative. The clause in the Constitution does not say that a county having a fraction of 1,000 shall have a representative. It does not contemplate that. As by the last census taken before this apportionment Clatsop had less than the required number of voters I think the Legislature did right in attaching that county to Tillamook. Tillamook had about 400 population so that the two counties had a little more than 1,000 inhabitants. I believe, in one instance in the case of Columbia county the Legislature did give a representative when there was less than the required number of voters which I think is what has led Clatsop county into this error

Mr STOTT from the Judiciary Committee reported upon H B No 5 as follows:

Your Judiciary Committee to whom was referred H B No 5 respectfully represent that they have had the same under consideration and report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the bill be referred to the Committee on Reform with instructions to inquire into the necessary aid or required to be performed and as to the necessity for clerical assistance

The report was adopted.

The Judiciary Committee presented the following report:

Mr Speaker—Your Judiciary Committee to whom was referred H B No [illegible] respectfully report that they have had the same under consideration and report the same back with a recommendation that the bill do not pass and your Committee further report the following substitute for said H B. On motion of Mr NOYER the House adjourned

Afternoon Session.

The House resumed at 1:30 and resolved itself into Committee of the Whole on the order of the day consideration of H. B No 6, introduced by Mr Galloway for the promotion of the study of anatomy

The Speaker left his desk and Mr Stott was called to the Chair

The bill provides in the first section that any duly qualified physician or medical student, acting under the authority of such physician may have in his possession dead human bodies or parts thereof for the purpose of anatomical inquiry or instruction

A discussion arose on a motion to amend by Mr FIDLER to strike out the word "or parts thereof." It was urged that to leave out these words would be virtually to destroy the bill. The amendment was lost.

The second section enacts under certain provisos that any Sheriff Coroner or Warden of a county poor house public hospital county jail or State prison shall surrender the dead bodies of such persons as are required to be buried at the public expense to any physician or surgeon qualified according to law to be by him used for the advancement of anatomical science preference being always given to medical schools by law established in the State for their use in the instruction of medical students

Mr GEARIN moved to amend by striking the preface clause from the section

The amendment was lost by a vote of 14 to 21

Mr LEE moved as an additional proviso that persons dying from smallpox or other infectious diseases shall be buried as soon as practicable after death

Mr Lee's motion prevailed

The third section stipulates that bodies obtained under the bill shall not be used in such a manner as to outrage public feeling and that the remains shall be properly buried in some public cemetery. The protective nature of this section was made more stringent by the adoption of several amendments

Mr GEARIN moved the following as an additional section: "No person shall be allowed or permitted to burn any dead body neither his own or any of his friends, and the process of cremation is hereby expressly prohibited in this State. Any violation of this law shall be deemed a misdemeanor

Mr CHAMBERS rose to a point of order stating that the gentleman from Multnomah had introduced a bill for the prevention of cremation while the bill under consideration was to promote the study of anatomy

The CHAIRMAN ruled the point of order well taken

Mr REED of Marion moved as an additional section that the bill shall take effect immediately after its approval by the Governor

Mr RIDDLE hoped the section offered by the gentleman from Marion would not prevail. He did not want to see this bill go into effect before the Legislature adjourned. [Much laughter.] The majority of the members were a long way from home and he was afraid should the worst come to the worst that their friends would not arrive in time to claim their remains from the body snatchers. [Renewed laughter.]

The motion of Mr REED was lost

A motion by Mr FIDLER, to strike out the enacting clause was lost

Mr GEARIN moved that the title of the bill be changed from An Act to Promote the Study of Anatomy to an Act for the Relief of Ignorant Physicians. Lost.

Mr RINEARSON moved that the Committee rise and report progress

Mr FIDLER moved to amend that the Committee recommend to the House that the bill do not pass

Mr MAYS moved to amend the amendment by making a recommendation that the bill do pass

Mr Mays amendment prevailed and the committee rose

The House resumed and Mr STOTT reported progress

The amended bill was read to the House

Mr GEARIN moved to indefinitely postpone the consideration of the report. Lost by a vote of 3 to 31

Mr GALLOWAY moved to adopt the report of the Committee of the Whole

Mr FIDLER moved to lay the motion to adopt the report on the table. Mr Fidler's motion was lost

Mr REED of Marion then moved to amend the motion of Mr Galloway so that it should read that the House adopt the amendments affected in Committee of the Whole. Mr Reed's amendment prevailed

On motion of Mr RIDDLE the bill was ordered engrossed for a third reading to-morrow

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

A communication was read from Mrs Coburn Secretary of the Woman's Rights Association inviting the Legislature to attend a meeting of the Association this evening at the Opera House

Mr DEAN moved that the invitation be accepted

Mr BRADSHAW moved to amend by referring the invitation to the Committee on Printing. [Laughter.]

Mr JOHNSON moved to amend the amendment by referring it to the Committee on Internal Improvements. [Renewed laughter.]

Mr REED of Marion hoped the gentlemen would withdraw their amendments. The House would frequently be receiving invitations and they ought to treat such invitations with courtesy

Mr BRADSHAW said they were sent there for legislation and it seemed to him they were wasting a good deal of time in frivolous debate. If the woman suffragists wanted to hold a Convention let them do so but it was advisable for the members of the House to attend to their own business and let the women alone. [Laughter.]

Mr MAYS moved to lay the communication on the table which motion prevailed

MINING AND ENGINEERING

A communication was read from Gilbert Reynolds the late contestant from Grant county calling the attention of the House to the importance of establishing a chair or professorship of mining and engineering in connection with some educational institution

On motion of Mr. RIDDLE, the communication was referred to the Committee on Mines

The House then adjourned

THE ANCIENT CAPITAL OF JAPAN

From a very interesting lecture on "The Land of the Rising Sun," delivered in Sacramento Cal last Friday by Hon C E De Long ex United States Minister to Japan, we take the following excerpt:

Nara is a very old city, lying about forty miles southeast from Kioto having a population of about 100 000. It has no trade but its own wants is superannuated and in a state of decay. It has no facilities for communicating with the outside world except on horseback. I visited this city several years ago to view the celebrated statue in question, and it is the only place in Japan during all my travels where I found the people uncivil. I was astonished upon first entering the city, to discover large numbers of deer running freely about the streets whilst the fronts of the stores were inclosed with lattice work. In explanation of this I was informed that many years ago a priest, desiring to add a character to the Japanese alphabet expressing a certain religious sentiment observing the antlers of a deer, was inspired by them, and made the character in imitation thereof that in gratitude he declared the deer sacred within the jurisdiction of the god whom he was addressing which included this city that since that time no deer had been allowed to be injured and no dogs allowed to live within that limit. In proof of this, I saw no dogs whilst deer were to be seen everywhere in the city and country. Very frequently during my travels about the city I met herds of deer led by some majestic old bucks, with spreading antlers proceeding perfectly unconcerned through the business streets, others I saw purloining pies cakes and fruits from vendors stands, and as they were not permitted to be beaten dealers in such things protected themselves by these lattice doors. The statue of Daibutz I found to be grand and beautiful beyond the description of it which had reached me. It is an image of Buddha of apparently solid bronze sitting in oriental style upon a lotus flower of bronze, which forms its pedestal. This pedestal I measured but cannot recollect its exact dimensions. I believe however that it measured twenty five feet in hight by seventy five feet in diameter. The image sitting upon this flower measured fifty three and a half feet in hight length of face sixteen feet breadth of face nine and a half feet, length of middle finger five feet length of the eye three feet nine inches—Japanese measurement (the Japanese foot being over thirteen of our inches.)

All representations of Buddha whether in painting or statuary, are made to convey to the countenance the idea of perfect resignation to the decrees of fate or in other words the expression of one who has solved the problem of futurity and is therefore no longer afflicted by any doubt. The form and expression of this huge image are as perfect as I ever saw in any of the smaller statues or paintings. We sounded and examined the pedestal and the image itself for some evidence of its having been constructed in blocks or sections but could find none and our conclusion was that it was a solid mass and if such it is unquestionably entitled to be classed as one of the wonders of the world. It was erected during the reign of the Emperor Seibu A D 543 or thirteen hundred and thirty one years ago. Standing in the presence of this wonderful work of art I felt awed by the reflection that this nation had such antiquity and such an ancient civilization that when northern Europe was still nearly savage, it was so skilled and refined

THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 24, 1874.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

In reading the report of Secretary Chadwick one is reminded that some of the arguments and hints at recommendations contained therein would appear to much better advantage in an Executive message. The protest against any reduction of the salary of Justices of the Supreme Court, for instance, would have carried more weight had it emanated directly from the only officer who is supposed to have a commanding influence in shaping or controlling legislation. And all of them might have been incorporated in His Excellency's Message without adding materially to the length of that document or endangering popular interest in the Governor's exciting non-committalism. Whether or not the Department of State voices the will of the Executive Office in these perilous days is "one of those things that no fellah can find out," as Dundreary has it. Not that His Excellency can not speak out when occasion demands. O no! Witness how he pricks up his courage in the discussion of the Litigant Law and the Metropolitan Police system of Portland. We can not forbear quoting from the Message that paragraph in which His Excellency daintily turns the litigant organs over to the tender mercies of an opposition Legislature:

> The enactment of the law for the protection of litigants, by the Legislative Assembly of 1870, has given rise to much d[illegible]ssion as to the necessity and propriety of the Act. There are manifest good reasons why there should be some specified journals authorized to publish all legal advert[illegible]sments, and that the rates of publication should be fixed by law. Two years ago a bill was p[illegible] repealing this Act; but the repealing bill was vetoed on the ground that the original Act, requiring a specific undertaking to do the litigant publishing; and, upon the filing of such undertaking, the statute declared that the publi[illegible] should hold the privilege during the t[illegible]m of the appointing power. Deeming that this created a vested franchise for the term named, I declined to approve the bill. But the term specified in the Act having expired, the Act is now subject to r[illegible].

Now, that is mild, discreet and gentlemanly. There is nothing imperious about it. The Governor does not haughtily say: "I recommend the repeal of the Litigant Law;" but he gently breaks the intelligence that "the act is now subject to repeal," prefacing it with the temperate observation: "There has been much discussion as to the necessity and propriety of the Act."

If other proofs of the rigidity of His Excellency's spinal column be demanded they are at hand. They crop out all over the message. On the subject of the police system of Portland he says:

> To meet an evident [illegible]ty, four years ago a law was passed by the Legislature reorganizing the Police Depar[illegible]t of the city of Portland. * * * This law is in contravention of the general principle of local self-government, and should be changed as soon as practicable.

Why, that is one of the very arguments most used by Republican orators and newspapers to justify the Reconstruction policy. The Portland Police Law is "in contravention of the general principle of local self-government," but it is to be justified on the plea of "evident necessity." We would not impeach Governor Grover's Bourbonism, but it looks very much as if he were "hanging on the verge," and if he shall next endorse the appointment of Provisional Governors in the South no one need be surprised. After all it is painfully apparent that His Excellency is drifting from his Bourbon moorings. Perhaps it is because of this that the Democratic oracle now speaks through the Secretary of State. It is to be hoped, above all things, that Mr. Chadwick will be merciful in the use of his "vested franchise," and not say or do anything which may injure His Excellency's prospects in 1876.

MARTIAL LAW PREFERABLE TO KELLOGG.

It is said that the White Leaguers in Louisiana are preparing for another attack on the Kellogg government, in the hope that martial law will be proclaimed and the November election be held under the supervision of military officers of the United States. They do not mean to cause bloodshed, and they intend to avoid a collision with Federal troops. There will be a few lives lost, perhaps, but they are willing to submit to that, even, rather than endure longer the persecutions of Kellogg.

The patience with which the people of Louisiana have suffered during the past two years is certainly marvellous. There have been some local disturbances arising from the oppressions of this minority Governor, it is true; but in those communities where outbreaks would be looked for there has been remarkable quiet. It is well enough to understand that the facts in this lamentable controversy are everywhere admitted to be as Penn has stated them. Senator Carpenter said last winter, on the floor of the Senate, that Louisiana was "trodden beneath the foot of a Federal judge."

McEnery advises the people to keep quiet. He is a shrewd politician and he sees the strength of his position. It is to be noted that in the late revolt he appeared on the scene just in time to surrender the State government into the hands of the military. In explanation of this President Grant has stated that McEnery had promised he would not make any effort to oust Kellogg until after the meeting of Congress, in December. He is confident of success in November. The General Government ought to guarantee a fair election. Perhaps in order to do this it will be advisable to remove Kellogg temporarily.

The Convention of the Grand Army of the Republic met in Columbus, Ohio, on the 16th inst. The address of welcome was delivered by Capt. James G. Bull, Mayor of Columbus. In the afternoon of the same day the society of the Army of the Cumberland met, and in the evening Gov. Allen made an address of welcome. It is said the venerable William excited much enthusiasm by his allusions to the patriotic services of the distinguished chieftains who were present. The report of the T[illegible]rer of the Society showed that the total amount received for the Thomas monument, up to July 1st, was $9,505. Generals Sheridan, Sherman and Custer and Secretary Belknap made brief addresses.

FUN IN THE HOUSE.

The House enjoyed itself yesterday afternoon. There was considerable opposition to the bill to promote the study of anatomy, and several of the members indulged in gloomy jokes at the expense of science. An effort to discountenance cremation was summarily defeated. Mr. Galloway, who has his eye on some desirable subject, perhaps, successfully fought the enemies of the scalpel and secured a third reading for his bill.

Later in the day, the House received a communication inviting the members to attend some kind of an exhibition in Reed's Opera House. This document was subjected to numerous indignities. There were motions to refer to the Committee on Printing and to the Committee on Internal Improvements. One bold Bourbon went so far as to say that members would do well to attend to the business for which they assembled and "let the women alone." It is evident that this individual has given up all hope of getting into the United States Senate. One Representative rose superior to the flood of derision which surged over the House, and recklessly hinted that this was the first of a long series of invitations from similar circuses. The communication was finally tabled.

All this occurred after the Litigant Act had been repealed, and the members were jubilant. The only wonder is that the House did not invite the Woman Suffrage Association to take seats within the bar. It must be a little crowded in there just now; but it might not have been too much to expect a few dozen Federal officers to give up their seats to the vanguard of the New Dispensation.

THE LITIGANT LAW.

The Litigant Law is dead, and its death is the first triumph in the present Legislature of the Independent Reformers. It is none the less a victory because it was slain by a unanimous vote. We presume the Governor will hardly want to veto the repealing act. For a few months the countryside will be strewn with corpses of newspapers that have relied solely on this generous fountain for nourishment during their brief existence. We will leave His Excellency the Governor to write the obituary.

In deciding the case of Mayor Havemeyer, Governor Dix condemned in pointed terms the action of the Mayor, but, while declaring that the power of removal is only limited by the discretion of the Executive, it should be exercised only in the interest of the public. Governor Dix says he can find in the charges no imputation of corrupt motive, and that, under all the circumstances, he deems it proper to decline any further proceedings in the case.

We acknowledge receipt of the Report of the State Capitol Building Commissioners to the Legislative Assembly.

Return of the Woodhull Combination.—A New York dispatch of Sept. 17 says: Victoria C. Woodhull, Tennie C. Claflin, Col. Blood, Mrs. Annie Claflin and Zula Woodhull arrived this morning in the steamer Hohenstaufen of the North German line. They were received by a number of enthusiastic friends. Victoria and Tennie wore blue cloth dresses, the same in which they were attired when they sailed for France a few weeks ago. They seemed much fatigued, expressed contempt for the French Republic and were overjoyed upon returning to this country. Mrs. Woodhull said she read in the French newspapers that she and her sister ran away from America, and that they were paid fabulous sums by persons mixed up in the Brooklyn scandal to absent themselves from New York. She denied such stories and said they never received one cent from Beecher, Tilton, Moulton, or any person interested in this scandal. They went to Europe to see the country and to meet Pere Hyacinthe and wife. She thinks certain persons in Brooklyn can imagine why she went particularly to see Father Hyacinthe.

Beecher's Answer to Tilton's Complaint.—A New York dispatch of Sept. 1[illegible], says: The answer of Henry Ward Beecher to Theodore Tilton was received to-day by Beecher's attorneys, and was at once served on the plaintiff, together with the answer served from the office of Tracey, Catlin & Brodhead, notice of trial for the term of court beginning the third Monday of September. The defendant answers to the complaint—1st. That each and every allegation in such complaint contained, except that the plaintiff and Miss Elizabeth M. Richards were married on Oct. 2d, 1855, and lived together as husband and wife up to 1874, is utterly false. 2d. That this defendant never had at any time, or any place, any unchaste or improper relations with the wife of the plaintiff and never attempted or sought to have any such relation.

[illegible] Clerk's Office.—It has become a [illegible] by-word that every new County Clerk [illegible] takes charge of the official and judicial [illegible] of Multnomah, considers some alteration [illegible] necessary to the office, which are usually made at the expense of the taxpayers. [illegible] has indeed been the case. But one [illegible] not to be overlooked in this connection, and that is, the records each year are [illegible] in bulk and in value. Already the [illegible] which belong to the county have [illegible] a very large number, and, according[illegible] a great deal of room. Within the [illegible] or six years many very marked im[illegible] have been made—each incumbent [illegible] something in the way of new furni[illegible] accommodations, etc. During the ad[illegible] of Mr. C. W. Farrish a very nec[illegible] addition—or, rather, alteration—was [illegible] the County Clerk's office. We refer [illegible] to the separation of the judicial [illegible] departments of the office, and [illegible] classification and arrangement of [illegible] branches. The work commenced [illegible] Farrish was carried forward and [illegible] by his successor in office, Mr. [illegible] Several additions were made by the [illegible], calculated to secure a more com[illegible] in the management of the differ[illegible] branches of the office. Mr. George L. [illegible] the present popular and efficient Clerk, [illegible] his predecessors in office, made sev[illegible] changes and repairs to the office, in order [illegible] carefully preserve the valuable re[illegible] of the county, and at the same time [illegible] the room a more neat and tasty appear[illegible] The long shelf or inclined tables that [illegible] around the east and south sides of [illegible], and upon which the records of deeds, [illegible] mortgages were accustomed to lie for the [illegible] of the public in making examina[illegible] has been removed and its place supplied [illegible] and substantial desks, taking up [illegible] room and protecting the records [illegible] damage when not in use.

[illegible] Scared Off.—A well known cit[illegible] of this city who has been annoyed for [illegible] time past with house thieves, became [illegible] a few nights since and resolved to [illegible] end to their depredations. Hearing the [illegible] endeavoring to effect an entrance [illegible] building through a window, our hero arose [illegible], and without pausing long enough to [illegible] clothes, made for the light-fingered [illegible]. He seized a loaded shot-gun, and [illegible] led them a spirited race. The [illegible] mistaking him for Hamlet's ghost, [illegible] fled, and in the darkness it was [illegible] before or after hope had put in her [illegible] appearance, and our informant had [illegible] which—made their escape. There [illegible] witnessed the chase state that it was rather [illegible] proceeding, yet our hero never ap[illegible] to better advantage. As he ran along, [illegible] shooting-iron in his right hand, while [illegible] garment fluttered in the nocturnal [illegible], he could double-discount any theatri[illegible] apparition, with all the calcium lights [illegible] in. Since that eventful night the bur[illegible] let our friend's premises severely [illegible]. He declares, if they have the temerity [illegible] his castle again, he will teach them [illegible] is not a ghost.

"Rival Broom."—Mr. J. M. Rice has invented a patent broom, to which has [illegible] applied the appellation of the "Rival [illegible]." This broom differs from the ordin[illegible] in use, by having the corn secured in [illegible] of tin socket, attached to the lower end [illegible] handle. Around the outer edge of the [illegible] soldered a piece of stiff wire. The [illegible] broom corn are cut off evenly, and [illegible] tightly into the socket. A few vigor[illegible] strokes on each side of the tin forces the [illegible] down on the ends of the corn, which is [illegible] firmly as if in the jaws of a vice. Two [illegible] are gained by using the "Rival [illegible]." One is that all the fibers of the corn [illegible] utilized, clear up to within a few inches [illegible] end of the tin. The other advantage [illegible] as soon as the corn is worn out, [illegible] can be supplied by new. Whenever the [illegible] give out the broom can be renewed, [illegible] in all respects will be as good as new. [illegible] price of the broom is 75 cents, and [illegible] filled each time at a cost of about [illegible], which is a great reduction over [illegible] rates. Mr. Rice has applied for a patent, [illegible] is expected to arrive from Washington [illegible] few days.

Investigating Committee.—As will be ob[illegible] by reference to the County Court pro[illegible], that body appointed three gentlemen [illegible], who are required to thoroughly in[illegible] the books of the county for the past [illegible] years, commencing as far back as [illegible], and extending down to the present. This [illegible] consists of Messrs. Theo. Wygant, [illegible]ward Quackenbush and James Steel, three [illegible] practical accountants, and thoroughly reliable and competent gentlemen. [illegible] persons are required to report at the [illegible] term of the County Court, if they can [illegible] the necessary investigation within the [illegible] time. Trial balances are to be pre[illegible] for each fiscal year. The Committee [illegible] a tedious and difficult task before them, [illegible] result of their labors will be a most [illegible] and thorough investigation of the [illegible] condition of Multnomah county. [illegible] gentlemen will enter at once into the [illegible] investigations.

Inventors.—Mr. W. H. McMullen, the [illegible] engineer of Fire Company No. 4, has [illegible] an apparatus which is calculated to [illegible] off the gas at any time desired. It is a [illegible], and that which has performed the part [illegible] alarm is now arranged to connect with [illegible] key on the pipe. The machine is set to a [illegible] time, and when that period is at hand [illegible] works are in motion, and at the same [illegible] moment the gas is turned on. Although the [illegible] is at present arranged to turn off but [illegible] burner, Mr. Mullen says he can set it to [illegible] extra duty. The contrivance is to be seen [illegible] the company's house, and the inventor will [illegible] happy to explain its workings upon call.

[illegible] Masked.—An express wagon, [illegible] has been used for several days in adver[illegible] the elephant side show, met with a seri[illegible] mishap on Tuesday night. The driver [illegible] left the express standing over night [illegible] the middle of the street, near the corner of [illegible] and Morrison streets. During the night [illegible] large truck drove rapidly past, and in the [illegible] ran against the express. One wheel [illegible] crushed all to pieces, and the lighter ve[illegible] upset. It presented yesterday morning a [illegible] wreck.

Ankle Sprained.—One of the teamsters employed by the Oregon Transfer Company, [illegible] James White, had the misfortune to [illegible] one of his ankles yesterday morning. While engaged with others in handling some [illegible] heavy cases of merchandise at the O. S. [illegible] Co.'s wharf, by some misunderstanding on the part of those who were at work with him, a case was let go and it came down with crushing force upon his ankle. No bones were broken, but it will disable him from work for a few days.

Flag Staff Raised.—On Tuesday evening, the members of the Portland Light Battery took down the flag staff which has so long stood in front of their old quarters, and raised it near their new armory. The "boys," with Capt. Tom Mountain at their head, fell to work with a will, and inside of 15 minutes, the staff was up and the halliards arranged. A very large flag, 40 feet long and 20 feet wide, was run up to the top and waved proudly to the breeze for some time.

The Target Shooting.—At 1 o'clock that veteran organization, the Washington Guard, will fall in line at their armory and take up [illegible] march for Voos Villa, where they will proceed to send in the center shots—those that have a steady arm and a quick eye. A number of invited guests will assist the boys in having a jolly good time, and we join with all the friends in hoping they will have it. In the evening a complimentary hop will take place at the Villa.

English Walnuts.—On the lot at the northeast corner of Washington and Sixth streets, owned by Mr. Leon Vial, is an English walnut tree, which this year has borne quite a large number of nuts. They are now nearly ripe, being of fair size, and show that with proper cultivation they might as well be Oregon as English.

The Oregonian on the Railroad.—Copies of the Daily Oregonian can be procured on the trains of the Oregon and California Railroad upon application to the train boy.

CITY.

COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE.—It has become almost a by-word that every new County Clerk who takes charge of the official and judicial records of Multnomah considers some alterations are necessary to the office, which are accordingly made at the expense of the taxpayers. Such has indeed been the case. But one thing ought not to be overlooked in this connection and that is the records each year are growing in bulk and in value. Already the records which belong to the county have reached a very large number and, according[ly], occupy a great deal of room. Within the last six years many very marked improvements have been made—each incumbent making something in the way of new furniture, accommodations, etc. During the administration of Mr C W Parrish a very nice addition—or, rather, alteration—was made to the County Clerk's office. We refer in particular to the separation of the judicial and recording departments of the office, and the general classification and arrangement of the various branches. The work commenced by Mr Parrish was carried forward and finished by his successor in office Mr [illegible]. Several additions were made by the latter officer calculated to secure a more complete system in the management of the different branches of the office. Mr George L. Story, the present popular and efficient Clerk has, like his predecessors in office, made several changes and repairs to the office in order more carefully preserve the valuable records of the county, and at the same time impart to the room a more neat and tasty appearance. The long shelf or inclined tables that extended around the east and south sides of the office and upon which the records of deeds and mortgages were accustomed to lie for the convenience of the public in making examinations, has been removed and its place supplied with neat and substantial desks taking up much less room and protecting the records from damage when not in use.

BURGLARS SCARED OFF.—A well known citizen of this city who has been annoyed for some time past with house thieves, became desperate a few nights since and resolved to put an end to their depredations. Hearing the burglars endeavoring to effect an entrance to the building through a window, our hero arose hastily, and without pausing long enough to don his clothes made for the light fingered gentry. He seized a loaded shot gun, and [illegible] it, led them a spirited race. The thieves mistaking him for Hamlet's ghost, instantly fled and in the darkness it was [illegible] just before or after Luna had put in her appearance, and our informant had [illegible] which—made their escape. Those who witnessed the chase state that it was rather [illegible] proceeding yet our hero never appeared to better advantage. As he ran, grasping the shooting iron in his right hand, while his [illegible] garment fluttered in the nocturnal zephyrs, he could double-discount any theatre apparition with all the calcium lights thrown in. Since that eventful night the burglars have let our friend's premises severely alone. He declares if they have the temerity to invade his castle again he will teach them he is not a ghost.

RIVAL BROOM.—Mr J M Rice has invented a patent broom, to which has applied the appellation of the "Rival [illegible]." This broom differs from the ordinary one in use by having the corn secured in place in a tin socket attached to the lower end of the handle. Around the outer edge of the [illegible] is soldered a piece of stiff wire. The butt ends of the broom corn are cut off evenly and [illegible] tightly into the socket. A few vigorous [illegible] on each side of the tin forces the [illegible] down on the ends of the corn which is held firmly as if in the jaws of a vice. Two [illegible] are gained by using the "Rival [illegible]." One is that all the fibres of the corn [illegible] clear up to within a few inches of the tin. The other advantage is, that as soon as the corn is worn out, its place can be supplied by new. Whenever the [illegible] the broom can be renewed, which is [illegible] it will be as good as new. The first price of the broom is 75 cents and it can be [illegible] at any time at a cost of about 15 [illegible] a great reduction over the [illegible]. Mr Rice has applied for a patent, which will [illegible] to arrive from Washington in a few days.

INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.—As will be observed by reference to the County Court proceedings, that [illegible], appointed three persons [illegible] who are required to thoroughly investigate the books of the county for the past six years, commencing as far back as July 6th 1868, and extending down to the present. This [illegible] consists of Messrs Theo Wygant, Edward Quackenbush and James Steel, three [illegible] accountants, and thoroughly reliable and competent gentlemen. They are required to report at the October term of the County Court, if they can make the investigation within the [illegible] time. Trial balances are to be prepared for each fiscal year. The Committee have a [illegible] and difficult task before them, and the [illegible] of their labors will be a most careful and [illegible] investigation of the financial condition of Multnomah county. These gentlemen will enter at once into their preparations.

INGENIOUS.—Mr W H McMullen, the engineer of Fire Company No 4 has invented an [illegible] which is calculated to turn off the gas at any time desired. It is a clock, and that which has performed the part of an alarm is now arranged to connect with the key on the pipe. The machine is set to a certain time, and when that period is at hand the works are in motion, and at the same moment the gas is turned on. Although the [illegible] is at present arranged to turn off but one burner, Mr Mullen says he can set it to do extra duty. The contrivance is to be seen at the company's house and the inventor will be happy to explain its workings upon call.

VEHICLE WRECKED.—An express wagon, which has been used for several days in advertising the elephant side show met with a serious mishap on Tuesday night. The driver carelessly left the express standing over night in the middle of the street, near the corner of Sixth and Morrison streets. During the night a large truck drove rapidly past, and in the darkness ran against the express. One wheel was crushed all to pieces, and the lighter vehicle upset. It presented yesterday morning a complete wreck.

ANKLE SPRAINED.—One of the teamsters employed by the Oregon Transfer Company [illegible] James White, had the misfortune to sprain one of his ankles yesterday morning. While engaged with others in handling some very heavy [illegible] of merchandise at the O S N Co's wharf, by some misunderstanding on the part of those who were at work with him a case was let go and it came down with crushing force upon his ankle. No bones were broken but it will disable him from work for a few days.

FLAG STAFF RAISED.—On Tuesday evening the members of the Portland Light Battery took down their flag staff which has so long stood in front of their old quarters and raised it near their new armory. The boys with Capt. [illegible] at their head fell to work with a will, and inside of 15 minutes the staff was up and the halliards arranged. A very large flag, [illegible] long and 20 feet wide was run up to the top and waved proudly to the breeze for some time.

THE TARGET SHOOTING.—At 1 o'clock that veteran organization the Washington Guard will fall in line at their armory and take up the march for Moos Villa where they will proceed to send in the center shots—those that have a steady arm and a quick eye. A number of invited guests will assist the boys in having a jolly good time and we join with all the friends in hoping they will have it. In the evening a complimentary hop will take place at the Villa.

ENGLISH WALNUTS.—On the lot at the north east corner of Washington and Sixth streets owned by Mr Leon Vial is an English walnut tree, which this year has borne quite a large number of nuts. They are now nearly ripe, being of fair size and show that with proper cultivation they might as well be Oregon as English.

THE OREGONIAN ON THE RAILROAD.—Copies of the DAILY OREGONIAN can be procured on the trains of the Oregon and California Railroad upon application to the train boy.

BOUND MUSIC.—We have received from Mr Carr of Gray's Music Store in this city a small but neatly bound volume filled with a number of excellent musical—vocal and instrumental—selections. Good taste has been displayed in the selection of the music while the mechanical work of the volume has been executed in a very creditable manner. A number of advertisements of persons engaged in business in this city are interspersed through the book. The volume is a handsome ornament for a center table and is a good medium for advertisers. The plan is of Mr Carr's own devising and enjoys the merit of being a novel one.

COURT MARTIALED.—Lieut Brant arrived a few days ago from Fort Colville having in custody two soldiers. These soldiers were recently court martialed for desertion at Colville and sentenced to confinement at Cape Disappointment—one for two years and the other for one year. The prisoners were taken down on Monday to the mouth of the river.

FIREMEN'S MEETING.—This evening there will be a meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association at the Police Court rooms at 7:30 sharp. The purpose of this meeting is to receive the report of the Committee on By-Laws. It will be an adjourned meeting and a full attendance is desired.

AN INCORPORATED BISHOP.

The following articles of incorporation were made and subscribed by Francis Norbert Blanchet Archbishop of the Roman Catholic Church for the Diocese of Oregon and filed in the Clerk's office yesterday.

Know all men by these presents, that I, Francis Norbert Blanchet Archbishop of the Roman Catholic Church for the Diocese of Oregon appointed Archbishop of said Church for said Diocese in conformity with the Constitution canons rules, usages and regulations of the Church and authorized to act for it, and in whom is now vested the legal title of the Catholic Church property in the said Diocese do hereby make and subscribe these articles of incorporation to the end that I, as Archbishop shall become a body corporate and corporation sole under the act of the Legislature.

The name of this corporation and by which it shall be known, shall be Roman Catholic Archbishop of the Diocese of Oregon.

The object and purposes of this corporation is to provide for and maintain the worship of Almighty God and the preaching of the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ according to the doctrines canons rules and usages of the Roman Catholic Church to establish and maintain educational and charitable institutions for the promotion of piety and learning and the maintenance of the poor sick and impotent, and for acquiring holding and disposing of Church property for the benefit of the Roman Catholic Church, for works of charity and for public worship.

The estimated value of Church property and money held by me, as Archbishop of the aforesaid Diocese at this date, is about forty-seven thousand dollars and consists principally of Church property situated in various parts of the State of Oregon and the sources of revenue of income designed for the support and maintenance of the objects and purposes hereinbefore specified and mentioned, are the gifts and contributions of the people to the same.

AMUSEMENTS.

The baby elephant and all the other attractions at the pavilion corner Fourth and Morrison streets, are giving excellent satisfaction. The children are delighted with this very interesting and worthy exhibition. There is nothing seen or heard at this place which can offend the most fastidious. They will remain during the week.

Mrs F M Phelps accompanied by Amy Stone, H F Stone, Miss Lizzie Morgan and the remainder of her company returned to the city last evening after a very successful tour along the Sound. To-morrow evening a short theatrical season will open at Oro Fino Theater. "Cigaretta the little Leopard of France" will be produced for the first time in Portland. Amy Stone will personate the title role supported by H F Stone, Mrs Phelps, and the full dramatic company. Devotees of the dramatic art may expect to witness something startling new and attractive.

Last evening the circus pavilion was almost as well filled as on the opening night. The acts were improved upon and several changes were to be noted. Mr Holland's tumbling and riding were the leading features of the evening's programme. He was unfortunate in attempting the forward somersault while speeding around the circle but finally accomplished the difficult feat. The boy Alcco was good in his act on horseback and very funny as clown—in the latter being assisted by a young man of about his own age. Sam Wells was clever in his feats of juggling and Miss Holloway met with favor in her pleasing performance with the trained horse while riding that animal. On the whole the performances were much better than on the first night. Several new acts are promised for this evening.

AN ELEGANT STORE

THE SPACIOUS DRUG STORE OF HODGE CALEF & CO—ITS APPOINTMENTS AND FURNITURE

Away back in the Pioneer days when Portland was a village and Oregon a Territory in the year 1851 a printed poster was issued from the OREGONIAN press announcing the fact that Messrs Hooper & Snell had opened a store in Portland for the sale of drugs medicine paints, glass etc. the first establishment of the kind north of San Francisco. A copy of this poster now hangs framed in the elegant store of HODGE CALEF & CO.

Of this city. Mr Snell being a member of this firm and residing in San Francisco. The firm of Hodge & Calef began business here in 1860 and Mr Snell was admitted to the copartnership some years after. Their first location was in No 95 Front street where they at their commencement of business here had what was considered as fine a store as any in the State. They are men whose strict attention to business energy and diligence have made them well and favorably known throughout the northwest coast and drawn to them a large share of the custom of Oregon and the adjoining Territories. Their business has been a constantly increasing one owing to their own well earned popularity and the liberality they have wisely shown in the use of printers ink, not a single number of the OREGONIAN having been issued for 14 years past which did not contain in some form or other an advertisement of their house. Such has been the growth of their trade and the increasing demands of the country that for some time past they have been on the lookout for more commodious and convenient apartments. A few months ago finding that the two story brick building

NO. 73 FRONT STREET

Extending through to First street 200 feet in length could be secured they determined to avail themselves of the opportunity and secure it. It is in our opinion, one of the most eligible locations for business of the character of theirs in this city being nearly central and convenient both for the city trade and the steamer landings and railroad depots. They began at once to fit it up in a style commensurate with the demands of their large business and the wants of the times. The several branches of the business which they carry on demanded more departments and in their new store they have secured divisions which will add greatly to their own convenience as well as that of their customers in making selections of goods. The first floor in the Front street end of the building is the wholesale department and the salesroom for

PAINTS OILS AND GLASS

Of which they keep always a very large stock on hand. In fact everything in this line is constantly being received by them from the East, where they have special arrangements for supplying this market. The second floor of this department is used for storing the heavy goods in this line and is reached by stairway and elevators. The second floor in the First street end is devoted to the storage of lighter goods in bulk.

DRUGS AND MEDICINES

The entrance from First street, arranged in the most tasteful manner with two doors and show windows on each side leads into the prescription and retail departments which are fitted up in the most elaborate and elegant manner, and admirably arranged both for convenience and for the display of goods.

THE SHELVING

Which are all of Oregon wood, were made to order from designs furnished by the well known architects, Messrs Krumbein & Gilbert and are new in style and a great improvement on the continuous line of shelves generally seen. Each side of the room contains two sections of shelves with a space of three feet in the center. Each section of shelving is surmounted by carvings and scroll work of beautiful design and nice finish, and reflect credit on the taste of the architects and proprietors. They are varnished and painted in the best manner, and are kept most scrupulously neat.

THE SHOW CASES

Are also new and unique in style. They were made in Cleveland, Ohio on order and are truly elegant affairs. The backs and ends are square, the frames of polished silver and the tops and the glass fronts curved so as to do away with the rod in front which makes them the most perfect for the display of the fine goods with which they are filled. We cannot better describe their form than by likening them to the fourth of a cylinder divided lengthwise the surface being of the finest and clearest quality of glass.

THE GLASS WARE

Such as jars measures graduates etc were made specially for the firm, and are of stylish patterns and fine finish. The labels on them, as well as on the drawers beneath the shelves, being put on in the most artistic manner.

In this department we also find a large and varied assortment of

PHOTOGRAPHIC GOODS

Which fill up one section of the shelving and are kept separate from other articles carefully arranged and presenting a fine display. No photographer can need anything which can not be here found. Another section of the shelving is occupied entirely by

FANCY GOODS

Such as toilet articles pomades, perfumeries, etc., of which this firm intend to keep a more extensive varied and finer line of goods than has ever been kept in the State before. Their present stock, imported from Philadelphia embraces the most elegant and fashionable articles and was specially selected to supply this market.

THE PRESCRIPTION DEPARTMENT

In which they employ none but the most competent clerks occupies one side of the department entered from First street and is commodious and convenient in all its arrangements. As the firm do a large business of this kind they are always prepared with every facility for the compounding of prescriptions in the most careful and expeditious manner.

THE OFFICE

For the Book keeper and Superintendent of the establishment is located at the partition between the wholesale and retail departments and commands a view of both entrances. It is well lighted and airy, and in every way well adapted for the purposes for which it is designed. The arrangement is judicious and the furniture in keeping with the rest of the house.

ORNAMENTAL ETC

One of the neatest ornaments to be seen in the store is a newly patented parlor fountain which runs without the aid of water works by simply raising a weight which pressing down upon the body of water in a cylinder forces it through a small pipe in the bottom into a small pipe through which it is thrown up in jets and falls back into the basin surrounding it. As an ornament for a parlor or table it is very beautiful and is new here. Those who desire to see it or purchase one can find them in operation at this store. They also have an unique and pretty sponge stand in the shape of a large Abalone shell fixed on a pedestal of imitation variegated marble which is a tasteful and handsome object.

Messrs H C & Co have kept up with the times in Oregon and by carefully watching the markets and close attention to business and the wants of the country have built up a large trade and the two partners who reside here being among our most estimable citizens we are glad to note their prosperity and to bespeak for them a liberal share of the patronage of our readers.

OUT-DOOR SPORTS

We shall hear nothing but base ball for the next three days.

The Crescents would like to meet the College Juniors at the conclusion of the big match on Saturday. Will the Salem boys accommodate them.

Wm Barker of the Printer has agreed to fill the position of umpire in the game on Saturday. So that matter is settled, and nothing but rain will prevent the meeting.

The Crescents and Arcadians, that is the major portion of the latter club, had a practice game yesterday and the little fellows held the big ones down pretty well. Try it again.

OPENING OF FALL MILLINERY GOODS on Wednesday September 30. Mrs George H Clarke has just returned from San Francisco with a large and varied assortment of choice millinery goods which she will be ready to display to the ladies of Portland and vicinity on Wednesday September 30.

If you want something that is new and nobby in the way of Clothing, we would advise you to call on KOHN who recently brought up an entire new stock of the goods. He is in the best humor over the fact that he has the finest stock in town. When you have thus call and look over the goods and if Kohn can't satisfy you why you can put yourself down as a poor judge of clothing and what a real [illegible] is.

FIRST OF THE SEASON.—Last week Messrs Beck & Waldman opened the first lot of Fall Styles in Clothing. The purchase was made by Mr Beck while in San Francisco and he has certainly made a most excellent selection. The Styles are new and will find a ready sale. Beck and Waldman are making a specialty of Boys' Clothing and fond parents should note this when they are out buying clothing for their darlings. Now is the time. Prices low, goods to suit all classes. Call and examine. No trouble to show goods.

J. FINNEN

Dealer in Imported and Domestic Cigars, Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, Yankee Notions &c offers the best cheapest and largest stock in Portland. Call and judge for yourself and be convinced that as much satisfaction will be given for the money as at any other retail house in the city. Recollect the Havana Cigar Store, First near Washington street.

Indigestion lies at the root of many of the ills to which flesh is heir. It is called by many names. It leads to many other diseases. It is like the jackal which precedes the lion. Uncured of dyspepsia the victim is a miserable and usually a short life. To all who suffer thus the celebrated PLANTATION BITTERS which has a world wide fame comes with healing on its wings.

Neuralgia.—"Kill me—oh kill me" was the cry of a wife suffering almost martyrdom from neuralgic pains in the head and face. "I'll do better than that" replied her sympathetic husband. "I will buy a bottle of MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT and that will cure you—sure." The bottle was bought at the nearest drug store for it can be found anywhere and the Liniment was applied. Within fifteen minutes the exhausted woman fell into a sweet sleep and awoke a few hours afterwards free from pain. She believes in Mustang Liniment and keeps a bottle of it on her dressing table for any of her friends.

The Gorgones were three celebrated sisters whose hairs were entwined with serpents; they had wings of gold, their hands were of brass, their bodies covered with scales, their teeth were as long as the tusks of a wild boar and they turned to stone all on whom they fixed their eyes. They are mythological creations—but in these days there may be seen some women who are regardless of their person and adornments—they allow the charms which nature accords to all their sex, their hair to become disheveled, unhealthy and finally to drop out; when by the use of LYON'S KATHAIRON they could retain it in all its beauty and present to their lovers and husband the witching grace of comeliness.

"Would that I had back my beauty" has been the troubled exclamation of many devotees of fashion who during life's fair morning resorted to the meretricious arts of plaster and paint for the complexion. What utter change comes swiftly on when outraged nature asserts its rights and covers the votaries of fashion with blotches and eruptions! Better far to have used the world renowned HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM.

An Article of True Merit—Brown's Bronchial Troches are the most popular Article in this Country or Europe for Throat Diseases and Coughs and the popularity is based upon real merit.

On a tree there sat a crow,
In his bill a chunk of cheese
On the ground a fox below
Said [illegible] me [illegible] of you [illegible]ase
You are beautiful of wing
And I bet that you can sing "

Cheered by flattery the crow
Sang, and dropped the cheese below
Then the cunning fox did freese
To the fallen chunk of cheese
And he calmly lugged it off
And he scoffed the song with scoff

JEFF DAVIS

HIS SPEECH AT MEMPHIS—HE SAYS [illegible] WERE HIS FRIENDS IN THE OLDEN TIME

In his speech at Memphis at the meeting to denounce the outrages against the colored people Jeff Davis said

Friends and Countrymen —You have assembled to-night not for the bare purpose of giving that expression which humanity demands, but you have assembled for a holier duty It is what you owe to yourselves what you owe to your posterity what you owe to the living, what you owe to the gallant dead who died fighting for the sacred cause of Southern independence And you, men of Polk, of Grundy of Gibson beware that you do not dishonor the dead nor tarnish the living You are here to express your horror of a particular crime It is a crime to be punished and to be punished as it deserves—a crime that appeals to the officers of the law that they will do their duty You have come here to appeal to the country abroad that you are not a race of assassins, that you don't wear masks, and that in asserting your rights you will go forward to the end of your lives never wearing a mask nor ever blackening your face [Applause]

I was the other day particularly struck at reading the testimony of a negro before one of those investigating committees in South Carolina He was asked if he knew Wade Hampton Oh, yes, they had been raised together from childhood Did he believe that he was engaged in any of those Kuklux outrages? No he did not Why? "Because" said the negro if Massa Wade Hampton had anything to do with those men, it would have been the white man that he would have been after, and not the negroes" [Applause] The Southern men are the only friends the negro has in any part of the world It becomes us to be their friends. Every Southern man's memory runs back to the good old black woman who nursed him in his infancy, and then to the boy who hunted and fished with him and the man who taught him to ride All remember with what joy and manifestations of love the nurse welcomed him back home after he had reached manhood While these memories cluster around him he can never forget them when they stood in those relations which I believe God intended that they should occupy If those relations have been disturbed it has [illegible] by those incendiaries who have come in among us only to stir up strife It now rests with you to show to the world that you are incapable of secret crime that you hate the men who wear the mask or black the face and that whatever is necessary for the p[illegible] that you will do in an open manner, with the visor raised and the helmet open [Applause.]

The colored people [illegible] the white man to provide for and [illegible] them now as much as they ever did [illegible] there are men who think that in the event of a war of races the blacks would be exterminated and that we would then have a happy and roseate future I have no sympathy with those men The negroes were my friends in the olden time and I took care of our wives and children, and homes in the time of war They brought this grand Mississippi valley into cultivation, and are the only ones, I think that can or will be ever able to successfully cultivate it [Applause] But I don't intend to touch upon a question upon which every man has already formed an opinion I have no feeling against the colored men. The only indignation which I feel is against those white men who have carried them into the position which they now occupy Let us have our vengeance against them, not against the poor blacks [Applause]

GOOD BY, DOCTOR

MISS MARY WALKER AND HER PANTALOONS ON THE WAY TO TURKEY

Dr Mary Walker is a strange product of our late war—a strange product both of its physical and theoretical excitements. During the war Mary found her way to Castle Thunder in Richmond and had a pretty hard time of it The worst thing they did to Mary in that lovely prison was to force her to doff her unmentionables and don the emblematic petticoat of her sex At first Mary wept then she waxed wrathy and finally fell into love and quietude At last in 1864 she was liberated obtained a new pair of pantaloons and in the position of a martyr to patriotism stalked the smooth and broad pave of Pennsylvania avenue to the amusement of the crowd of idle brigadiers and colonels who ornamented the porticoes of the National and Willard's Hotels Mary cared little who was gazing at her She was always sure of an audience at the White House even with Lincoln whom she amused by her pertness and nonsensical affectations of superior ability which she would assert in an English altogether her own All sorts of things were as about her, but still she made a living, and to-day comes the news of her pacing the boulevards of Paris in the breeches that were the wonder of the avenues of Washington. It seems Mary is on her way to Constantinople, where all of her sex do wear those things, not metaphorically but actually She goes to be the official chief physician of the seraglio of the mighty Porte Mary has struck the right place at last Her medical short comings will pass unmarked in the mark of talismans, and her bloomerism will flourish in its indigenous soil The Egyptian Khedive has a French male physician but the great Sultan will have an American female surgeon In Constantinople Mary will tread ground rendered classic by Anna Comnena, and by a long line of female philosophers beside whose beauty and whose wisdom the fame of Susan B and of Cady S pales as the moon before the sun Heartily do we congratulate the Turk on his acquisition but gallantry forbids that we should congratulate ourselves on—a good riddance —Brooklyn Eagle

HOLDING HIS EYE—A paper out in Dakota Territory the Elk Horn Gleaner relates the following story of a fellow who solemnly pledged himself not to drink a drop of liquor either inside or outside of a house for two years Soon afterward he passed a saloon where three of his former boon companions were taking their drop in comfort and he could not help stopping and casting one mournful look of longing within One of them spied him and invited him to join them Oh no" said he "I wish I could but I've sworn not to take a drop either inside or outside of a house for two years Oh" says one you can have one drink for all that we'll lift you off the threshold and you can drink half inside the house and half out So one took hold of each leg and thus they raised him up while the third filled and passed the bottle He took one long drink and was just drawing breath for another when one of his supporters shifted a little and he shouted O" hold me even boys, my soul's in your hands"

A PIUTE PROPHET —A patriarchal Piute of many grasshopper seasons who had probably just arrived from Eastern Nevada where he had no doubt witnessed some of the recent pluvial dispensations, yesterday like a second Jonah come to Nineveh, uttered a prophecy for the benefit of this town Pointing up towards the summit of Mount Davidson, he said "Poco tempo pretty dam soon come one big rain you bet Knockum down all houses heapee people die mouthful mud, you bet Having uttered this prophecy he will probably camp on some neighboring hill top and wait to see the cloud-burst knock the town to pieces —Virginia (Nev) Enterprise

A NEW PRESS ASSOCIATION —A Washington D C dispatch Sept. 13 says A Baltimore letter gives a rumor that the New York Herald, Philadelphia Ledger, and Baltimore Sun are about to organize an associated press in opposition to the New York concern of which all of these papers are now members.

The movements in financial circles to-day are devoid of important features the principal inquiries coming from grain buyers and are freely met on the usual terms

We give up a good deal of space in this column to the exhaustive reports of the crop in Europe as the price which our grain products will command depends very largely on the supplies in the countries referred to The reports are we believe the most reliable that can be obtained and when carefully studied will throw much light on the present condition and prospects of the grain markets of the world

British Crops and Markets.

From the New York Produce Exchange Weekly of the 11th [illegible] we collate the following

Mr James Sanderson an eminent authority on the crop in the United Kingdom says The present wheat crop has been likened to that of 1868 but there is no analogy between them In 1868 the crop was uniformly level the crop of 1874 has stems of unequal length the crop of 1868 had unusually long heads with closely set and fully developed grains and that of the present year has short defective heads with generally small grains the crop of 1868 was totally free from disease In low lying districts smut and rust are prevalent this year In 1868 the number of grains in each head averaged over 40 this year they do not average 40 the crop of 1868 was at least 30 per cent over an average—this year's crop is under an average The average yield of wheat in 18[illegible] and 18[illegible] in the United Kingdom did not exceed [illegible] bush but taking the crops of the last seven years the average was never 30 bush to the acre The results of the threshed out fields have not been equal to the earlier field estimates On some of the best lands in Berks 4 qrs per acre has been realized and a yield of [illegible] qrs in East Kent is not uncommon In Lincolnshire a field that in 1868 yielded 8 qrs per acre has this year produced 6 qrs Some of the light soils in Rutland have yielded only 12 bush per acre and on a large area of shallow land the yield will not exceed 2½ qrs per acre Taking England generally I estimate the yield at seven per cent below an average The quality of the grain is good and condition varied with an average weight of 63 lbs to the measured bushel

The wheat crop in Scotland with favorable weather for the harvest it is said will be a fairly rich one In East Lothian the harvest was about completed the last week in August but the harvest in the highlands did not become general till the first week in September

The Registrar General of Ireland has issued his report on the agriculture of Ireland for the year 1874 The area under wheat in 1874 was an increase of 11 7 acres bere and rye 629 acres cabbage 4 [illegible]50 acres carrots parsnips and other green crops 3 121 acres meadow and clover [illegible] acres In oats there was a decrease of 30 [illegible] acres, barley 18 [illegible]79 acres beans and peas 1 471 acres potatoes 10 [illegible] acres turnips 14 8[illegible]1 acres vetches and rape [illegible] acres and flax [illegible] 411 acres. Deducting from the last mentioned returns the increase previously stated there is a net increase in the aggregate area under all crops of 2,90[illegible] acres.

The population of the United Kingdom was in

1869	[illegible] 17 6[illegible]
1870	[illegible] 186 400
1871	[illegible]

The wheat acreage for 1874 crop harvested in 1874 was estimated at 3 600 000 acres which at 4 bushels per acre yield would produce 14 200 000 qrs and at 4 qrs per acre this product would be 14 400 000 qrs. There are required for seed ⅔ bu hels per acre or about 9 000 000 bush The estimated consumption is 22 000 000 qrs per annum maximum or 178 000 000 bushels The average imports for the last twelve years have been 8 704 769 qrs, or 69 68[illegible] bushels and were for the crop year ending August 31 1874 less the export, about 10 061,236 bushels The required imports for the crop year 1874 7[illegible] basing the home supply at 7 per cent under the average crop of the last twelve years of 13 438,844 qrs or 12 477,1[illegible] qrs would be about 7 [illegible] 000 bushels of wheat Russia, France Austro Hungary Germany, Australia Chili and the United States will be competitors for furnishing this 76 000 000 bushels of wheat and as all have average wheat crops Russia probably 50 000 000 to 60,000 000 bushels surplus wheat and America including Chili from 75 000 000 to 90 000, 000 bushels surplus the United Kingdom will be able to purchase wheat at minimum prices

There were in transit for the United Kingdom on the 2[illegible]th ult. exclusive of steamer shipments from American Atlantic ports 68[illegible]530 qrs of wheat flour included also 196 000 qrs of corn comprising 51 520 qrs from Southeastern Europe and the remainder from America Late advices from Roumania state that the maize crop owing to the severe drought that has for a long period prevailed will not be over half an average

Beerbohm's London cable of the 10th inst report the weather in England showery the farmers deliveries of home grown wheat for the week ending September 5th in the 150 towns in England and Wales at 60 000 to 65 000 qrs and estimated in the Kingdom at 40 000 to 260 000 qrs The imports of foreign 270 000 to 275 000 qrs of wheat 10 000 to 50 000 bbls of flour and 170 000 to 175 000 qrs of maize Wheat Liverpool steady Maize rather easier The farmers' deliveries, plus the imports for the week, including wheat and flour gave a supply for the week of 447 500 to 478 [illegible] qrs against 400 [illegible] qrs minimum and 423 000 qrs maximum weekly consumption which indicated an accumulation for the week in the stock to 147 500@1 [illegible] qrs

The Russian Wheat Crops

Russia is the great competitor with America in the English breadstuffs markets Late advices from there of the wheat crop show what is expected from that country this year They are more positive than anything received before and leave no room for doubt that in those sections of the Russian Empire which supply grain for export the harvest has been exceptionally abundant, We take the following account from the Vienna Deutsche Zeitung of August 16th The most reliable authorities testify to the following statements with reference to the crop results in southern Russia In the south eastern territory—viz in the districts of Azof Cherson Jekaterinoslaw Tauridaand Bessarabia—a very good crop is looked for In the vicinity of Odessa some seventy versts in circumference the prospects for wheat rye and barley are bad [illegible] on the river Don the news is satisfactory the grain standing high and dense with full ears From the districts of Choporsk and Ust Medwiedic similar news comes in In southwestern Russia Ukraine Wohlynia and Podolia the district of Kiew will give a rich harvest as the cereals have improved by the rain In Wolhynia a good crop is expected in the districts of Ostrog Nowograd Wolynk and Zytomir in Rowno and Kamenec—In Podolia a rich harvest is looked for except in the district of Olgopol In the district of Kursk and the adjoining country a very rich crop of both winter and summer cereals is looked for In the Government of Orel the crop will be but middling In Tambow it will be satisfactory in Pultawa good in Woronesch also good except in three districts In the Government of Czernigow a good crop is expected in Kordznek Gorodiansk and a part of Gluchowsk a bad crop is looked for In the East and the lower part of Wolga the news is very satisfactory In the Governments of Samara and Saratow the grain belt of Russia a very rich harvest is expected In the Government of Simbirsk and Mischinei Novgorod a good crop is likewise looked for These accounts leave no room for doubt that the Russian crop will contribute a very large surplus to the grain importing countries Putting together the results of the world's harvests there can be no doubt that it is one of very remarkable abundance perhaps we may say one of the most liberal ever known but in estimating its bearing upon the prospective value of grain proper weight must be attached to the exceptionally low condition of stocks the world over

[From the Chicago Tribune]

Few people know how deeply indebted the United States is to Russia for kindly services during the war It has often been [illegible] whispered that Russian influence prevented the armed interference of France and perhaps England in behalf of the South We are enabled to lay before our readers trustworthy information never before published in support of the truth of this rumor

When Governor Curtin on the eve of his return to this country went in his capacity as Minister to Russia to take formal leave of the Emperor the latter closed the conversation substantially in these words "I wish, sir, that you would, upon your return, express my hearty thanks to the American people for the reception they have given my son, the Grand Duke Alexis " This it will be remembered was shortly after General Grant had refused to return Alexis call, and the latter had left Washington in disgust. Governor Curtin noticed the Emperor's failure to send thanks to the Government as well as the people. He supposed however, that it was a slip of the tongue until the Empress bade farewell in almost precisely the same words. 'I shall be happy ' said he, ' to carry your Majesty's thanks to my Government and people [illegible] I sent my thanks, sir the Empress retorted, to the people—and only to the people.' Gov Curtin afterward complained of the slight that had thus been publicly put upon the Government he represented He was invited by Gortschakoff to a conference on the subject Three books were brought in from the archives of the foreign office. The first contained an autograph letter from Napoleon III , asking Russia to join with England and France in breaking up the Federal blockade and guaranteeing the Independence of the Confederacy The letter asserted that England had already promised her co-operation which was probably a lie The second book contained the Emperor's reply He flatly declined the alliance proposed by Napoleon, and declared that in the event of any European interference in the war Russia would actively aid the North The third book had within it copies of the sealed orders given to the Russian Admiral who as our readers will remember brought his fleet into New York harbor during the war. The orders directed him to proceed at once with his whole available force, to New York city , to remain at anchorage there for some time, and in the event of European interference with the blockade to put himself and his whole force at the command of the Cabinet at Washington and promise abundant and speedy reinforcements While Governor Curtin stared dumbfounded at these unexpected proofs of Russia's steadfast fidelity to the Union cause, Gortschakoff said to him Perhaps you can appreciate now sir why the Emperor and Empress sent their thanks to the people who have honored the Grand Duke Alexis and not to the Government that has insulted him We saved your country and now your President insults our representative It is too much " Curtin quite agreed with him and the interview ended

We have every reason to trust the gentleman from whom we have received this story It will probably be found substantially correct although there may of course, be errors in detail

AN ELEPHANT'S REVENGE —At Sacramento, a week or so ago some fellow at a menagerie gave a piece of tobacco to an elephant which caused the animal to give way to a terrible fit of anger It [illegible] the nearest object on which to wreak its vengeance and this proved to be the eleven years old son of M H W Juhrs The great beast wound his trunk around the boy and squeezed him so tightly as to break his right arm between the elbow and wrist and to severely bruise his body Being compelled to release his hold of the boy the enraged animal as soon as the lad was dropped, again attempted to seize him, and in the effort came near taking the youth's head off It was on all hands considered more than fortunate that the animal did not cast him down and trample him to death and also fortunate that the angered brute did not run a muck in the crowd, as elephants have done when tobacco has been given them The boy was not dangerously hurt Such a trick may have seemed very funny to the wretch who played it, but it would have been more generally satisfactory had the elephant given him the hug, instead of injuring an innocent boy
